INNERVATE is an international training organisation that researches, develops and shares ideas and tools to help individuals, teams, organisations and communities take more control of their future and create better outcomes for themselves and others.

We believe our ideas and tools are applicable to a wide range of contexts. However, it is not possible to guarantee that our research, or our materials are exhaustive, always accurate, or applicable for all situations, individuals or groups.

For this reason, we cannot be held liable for any outcomes that follows on directly or indirectly from the provision of our services in whatever format. And yes, this includes positive outcomes. So, if you use the ideas to make things better for you, your family, your organisation or your community, then it is you that has caused that. Accountability is the first step to greatness!

INNERVATE coaches and facilitators are not licensed mental health professionals and do not act as replacements for counselling, psychiatric intervention, legal counsel, treatment for mental illness, professional medical advice, financial advice or other such professional services.

Whether you are using our materials, taking part in one of our training or undertaking coaching, our role is to share our ideas and tools, and it is up to you to make your own decisions about what you use and how you use it. Thank you.
